This calendar of collective agreements lists those contracts that are scheduled to expire in the calendar year 1984.[1] Expiring agreements, in this publication, are grouped by month of expiration and include employer, union name and local number, expiry date, and the approximate size of the bargaining unit.

During 1984, 280 collective agreements are expected to expire with the greatest number expiring in March. December has the second largest number of expirations with forty-seven.

A total of 21,249 employees are affected by 1984 expirations. Of these, over 62 percent are employees of a bargaining unit with 50 or less employees and 7.9 percent with 201 or more employees.

Information concerning any of the collective agreements referenced in this list may be acquired from the Research Division.

[1] This is a preliminary listing subject to revision. Certain contracts in the public sector coming under the guidance of the Public Service Commission Board may have not been processed at time of publication. Agreements negotiated for a one year term during the latter part of 1983 may not have been filed with the Minister of Labour and Manpower at the time of publication. This report will be updated periodically.
